Depression On The Bourse Relieved—One Editorial Writer Doubts Whether President Wilson "Will Commit The Foolish Act" Of Entering World War Despite Firm Stand.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Berlin, via London, Feb. 3.—The feeling which has been prevalent in German circles that a crisis is at hand in German-American relations, particularly in regard to the Lusitania case, has been moderated if only in a slight degree, by the semi-official announcement regarding the forwarding to Ambassador von Bernstorff at Washington of instructions which give hope of a definite settlement. The Bourse, which had been depressed by this situation, recovered somewhat on publication of the announcement. The newspapers have little to say regarding the situation.

The chief editorial writer of the Kreuze Zeitung devotes a large part of his daily review to a dispassionate discussion of German-American affairs, "recognizing that Washington cannot be reproached for endeavoring to make the best of America's favorable position as regards Germany and Great Britain by bringing pressure to bear upon both and playing one against the other." It gives a warning, however, against overestimation of the importance of such "diplomatic gestures."

The writer doubts whether President Wilson "will commit the foolish act" of entering the world war, despite all his "bellicose utterances." He doubts also whether the President will be able to obtain any definite results by his protest against British interference with trade. Therefore, this writer says, Germany must rely upon herself.

GERMAN NEWSPAPERS CRITICIZE WILSON'S SPEECHES ON HIS TOUR.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Cologne, Feb. 3.—(Via London).—The Koelnische Zeitung, commenting on the cable quotations from Mr. Wilson's speech indicating imminence of warlike complications, expresses the opinion that the President had Germany rather than England in mind, for "President Wilson dislikes Germany just as much as he is kindly disposed to England, and her allies," it says. Nevertheless the Koelnische Zeitung contends that Mr. Wilson did not intend to hint at any specific nation but only to clinch his arguments in behalf of preparedness yet it says for all that Germany must reckon with the fact that a man occupies the American presidential chair who inwardly sides with Germany's enemies and the utmost that Germany can hope for is a continuance of America's lukewarm neutrality, despite occasional utterances in congress against England.

Sensational Literature May Have Inspired Young Man to Threaten to Wreck Train

(Special to Advocate.)
Pataskala, O., February 3.—Inspired by the deeds of valor of the heroes of the sensational magazines of which he was an inveterate reader, it is probable George Gary, 21, son of Steven Gary, a farmer near here, thought he had but to demand vast sums of money, and they would be given to him. He must have been dreaming of the wonderful results obtained by the characters in the "blood and thunder" magazines when he sent a number of letters to B. & O. and Pennsylvania railroad officials threatening to wreck a train unless payment of $5000 was made today. When taken into custody by Postal Inspector Robinson of Columbus on Wednesday he admitted sending the letters.

The Gary family reside on a farm between Pataskala and Outville, and are in very comfortable circumstances. The son was taken before United States Commissioner Johnson and waiving examination was bound over to the federal grand jury. Mrs. Sara Bischo, 120 Reinhard avenue, Columbus, an aunt, furnished $500 bond and he was released.

(Associated Press Telegram)
Wilmington, Del., Feb. 3.—It became known today that a mysterious aeroplane was soon hovering over the Du Pont Powder works at Carney's Point, N. J., on the Delaware river last Monday night, but whence it came or where it went has not been established. The Du Pont company has no idea who was in the machine, or the reason for its presence at the works, especially at night. While the airship could not be seen distinctly, its passenger or operator could easily have located the buildings of the powder plant, by the aid of the lights there.

UNPRECEDENTED SNOWSTORMS IN THE NORTHWEST

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Seattle, Wash., Feb. 3.—The Pacific northwest today again faced the task of battling with an unprecedented snowstorm which has paralyzed rail communication disorganized city life, held residents in outlying districts snowbound, and caused many thousands of dollars damage to buildings not strong enough to withstand the weight of two and a half feet of snow on their roofs.

All northern trans-Continental railroads are tied up by snow in the mountain passes. Railroad officials have abandoned hope of ending the blockade until the storm eases.

In Seattle and other cities, street car lines are completely blocked by snow. Schools are closed and business is practically suspended awaiting the end of the storm.

WORST STORM IN OREGON'S HISTORY CONTINUES TODAY.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Portland, Ore., Feb. 3.—Portland and a large part of Oregon continues today in the grip of what is said to be the worst storm in their history. Sleet and snow driven by high winds have cut off all railroad communication east and severed wire communication on all sides, save intermittent telegraph service to Spokane.

The storm which is known as a "silver thaw" has been experienced here before, but never in so severe a form.

STRIKERS CONFERENCE WITH OFFICIALS.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Youngstown, O., Feb. 3.—A conference between Carnegie Steel company officials and representatives of striking employees, and more mass meetings of workmen were to be held here today in an effort to settle the strike which has been in progress three days. Strikers were told by their employers yesterday to make their demand more definite. The demands made by the various classes of employees vary considerably, American Federation of labor leaders are here in an effort to organize the workmen. About 600 men are effected by the strike.

CHILD LABOR LAW PASSES LOWER HOUSE.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Washington, Feb. 3.—The Keating child labor bill now awaits the action of the senate. This measure which would prohibit the interstate shipment of products of child labor under heavy penalties, passed the house late yesterday by a vote of 337 to 46.

The bill was amended so as to exempt boys' and girls' canning clubs from its operations.

June 9, 1915, to General Superintendent R. E. McCarty of the Pennsylvania. The last was written last week, just after the wrecking of a Pennsylvania train in collision with an automobile at Pataskala.

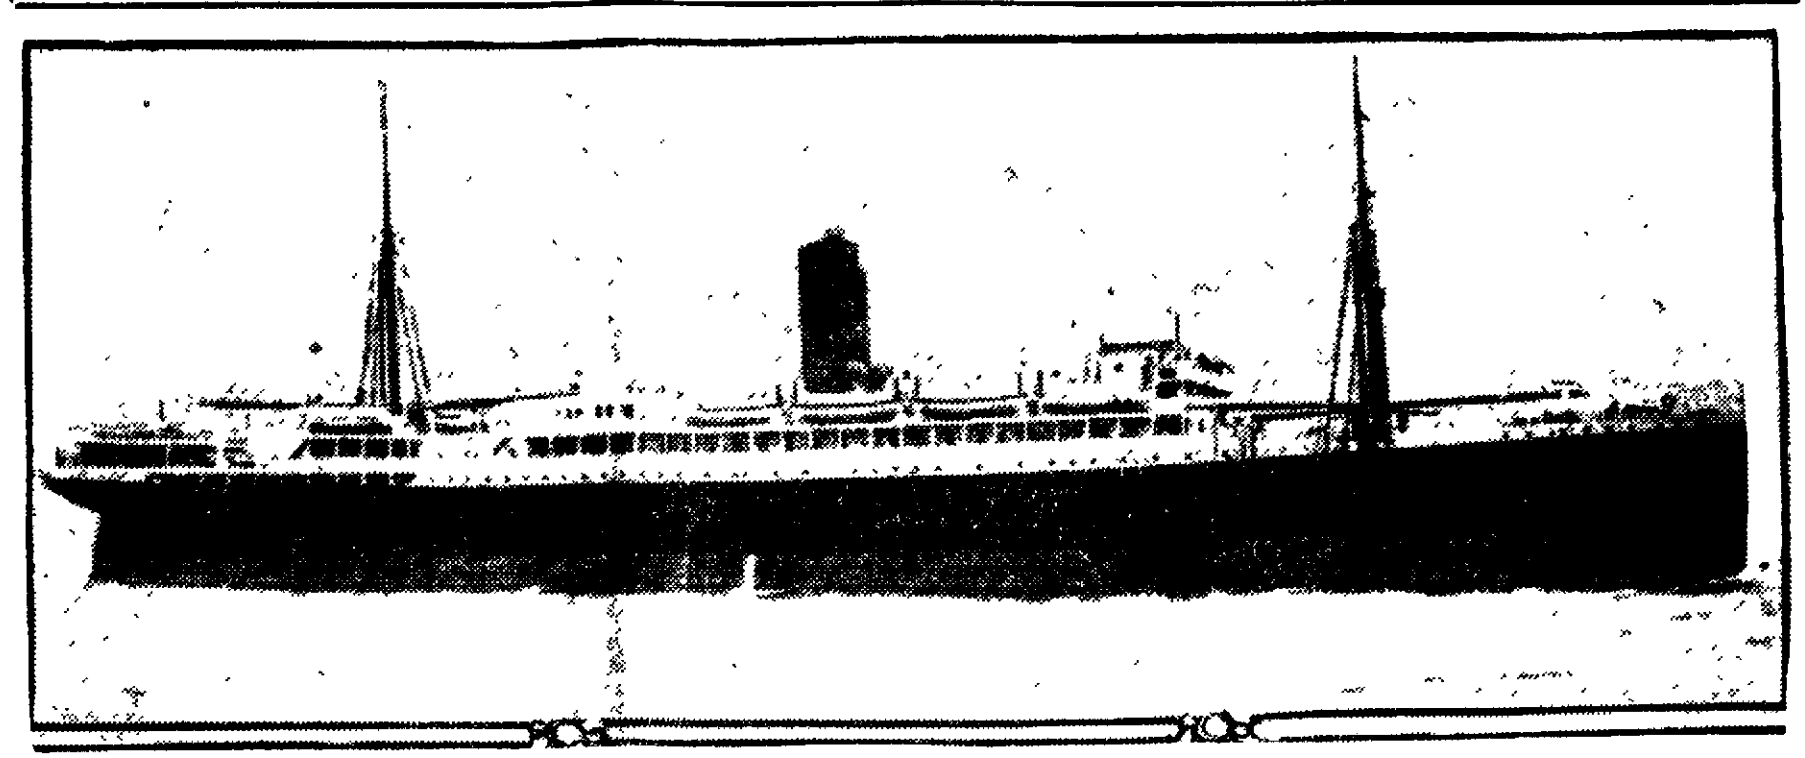

"My dear sir," this missive began. "This is your last chance. Put $5000 and an automatic revolver on the milk platform at the York Street crossing by Feb. 1. You know what a loosened rail or 125 pounds of dynamite would do—send a train over a 30-foot embankment. The dynamite is ready placed—a switch—presto, comes the flyer and bang!—nothing left but twisted mass of steel. Dead and dying people. Do as the above tells you, unless you want another mysterious wreck."

It was signed "The Wrecker," as were the others.

This letter was mailed at Kirkersville to the station agent at Outville, near Pataskala, with the request that it be sent to the "general superintendent" or "president."

"I don't know why I did it," said the boy when questioned by Inspector Robinson. His dynamite could not be found.

HANDFUL OF GERMANS TAKE BRITISH LINER APPAM; MAKE IT A PRIZE OF WAR

British steamship Appam, believed sunk off the coast of Africa with 400 souls aboard, was brought into Norfolk, Va., February 1, by a German prize crew of 22 men. To escape capture by British cruisers, the Appam was driven across the Atlantic, through a cordon of British war ships and into the neutral American harbor. The exploit of this handful of Germans is regarded as the most amazing in the war.

Swift Current of Ohio River Where Boat Sank Precludes Recovery of Bodies.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Huntington, W. Va., February 3.—Judge Ad. R. Shepherd, chief inspector for the West Virginia public service commission, this morning began an inquiry into the cause of the boiler explosion which destroyed the Pittsburgh combine towboat Sam Brown, opposite this city yesterday. Government steamboat inspectors Clark and Thomas of Point Pleasant, W. Va., also are here to begin a federal probe.

Coroner Gerlach, of Cabell county, announced that pending the investigation by the state and federal authorities, he would order no inquest on the bodies of the dead.

The death of James Craig, a pilot, of Pittsburgh, in a hospital this morning, brought the list of dead to 11.

John Singleton, reported missing, was located at his home in Gallipolis this morning.

No effort will be made to recover additional bodies from the wreck until the river recedes, it was announced this morning by W. K. Field, president of the company which owned the towboat. The exceedingly swift current at the point where the boat sank, he said, rendered it impossible for divers successfully to explore the wreck.

Wilson Hawkins Is Being Considered by Governor for State School Commissioner

Wilson Hawkins, superintendent of the Newark public schools is being seriously considered by Governor Willis for the appointment as state superintendent of public instruction, a position made vacant by the resignation of Frank W. Miller, who becomes superintendent of the Darton, O. schools. Mr. Miller surrenders the position on February 15, but his successor will be appointed before that time.

This information came to the Advocate this morning directly from the governor's office in Columbus. Yesterday a special dispatch to a Cincinnati paper mentioned Mr. Hawkins in connection with the appointment, and intimated that his interests were in the hands of those inimicable to those of Prof. John Davidson, of Lima, who has the support of the Ohio School Improvement Federation. Mr. Hawkins was seen this morning by the Advocate regarding the matter and he authorized a statement to be made that he was in no sense a candidate for the position, and that he had taken no initiative in the matter. In fact, he said, the whole thing was news to him. He has had no conversation with the governor, has made no application, nor has the governor tendered him the honor.

"It is not for me to say that I would not accept the appointment before it is tendered me, but at this time, I can only say that I have not considered the matter at all, because I have known nothing of it. It may be that some of my friends have urged me to the governor for appointment and the fact that I am being considered is in itself an honor which I deeply appreciate, but my work is in the public schools of Newark, and I have had no desire to allow aspiration for political preferment to interfere with this work, nor will I in the future."

The Advocate called the governor's office by telephone this morning and was told by Forest Tipton, private secretary to the governor that Mr. Hawkins' name was in the governor's hands and was being considered by him, but that no appointment would be made until next week.

YOUNG TEIPER SPENDS NIGHT IN JAIL CELL

AFTER ATTENDING FUNERAL OF HIS MURDERED BROTHER AND MOTHER.

May Be Taken to See His Dying Sister, Who He Hopes Will Exonerate Him.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Buffalo, N. Y., Feb. 3.—John Edward Teiper, who spent the night in a cell at police headquarters, after attending the funeral of his brother and mother, may today see the third victim of the Orchard Park tragedy, his dying sister, Grace.

Teiper clings to his original story that the murders were the work of a strange man, and is said to have expressed a willingness to go to his sister, beside in the hope that his presence may draw from her, during a possible moment of consciousness, some word to confirm his story.

District Attorney Wesley C. Dudley, said he had no objection to Teiper's visit to the hospital, but declared that the county's investigation of the case had been practically completed.

Unsatisfactory results thus far have been obtained in getting a picture of a bloody finger print on the handle of the revolver found near the scene of the murder, as the weapon had been handled by several persons before it reached the sheriff. Teiper has admitted that this revolver belonged to him.

John Teiper's gold watch which he declared was stolen from his pocket Sunday night, has been recovered. It was found by a newspaper reporter in a field not far from the spot where the murders occurred. It was lying alongside a stone which it had evidently struck. The watch which was dented had stopped at 12:25 a. m.

District Attorney Dudley when informed that the watch had been found said that "it practically clinches the case."

He would not indicate, however, when an arrest would be made. Teiper in the meantime remained in his cell at police headquarters where he had spent a restless night.

No formal charge has been placed against him.

Officers Hurlbaugh and Gorman, with the two sons of Edward Hotchkiss, who disappeared from his boarding house Saturday, 491 West Main street, this afternoon were dragging the Raccoon creek in the vicinity of the West Main street bridge. The sons fear their father has made good his alleged threat to "do away" with himself. A note left in Hotchkiss' room was found in which the supposed writer Hotchkiss said he would "do away" with himself.

The two sons were notified and came to Newark from their home in Michigan to aid the police in their search. Hotchkiss was reported to have been seen on the West Main street bridge, about 7 o'clock Saturday evening. This was the last seen of him by his friends, and it is feared he leaped into the Raccoon creek.

The missing man is about 60 years old and came to Newark some time ago from Detroit. Since coming here he has been harbored at the home of C. L. Carter, 491 West Main street.

America Should Have The World's Greatest Navy

TO PROTECT HER VESSELS

And Cargoes Upon Oceans—Does Not Believe There Even Will Be Another War Like Present—One Act Of A Submarine Commander Might Set The World Afire.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
St. Louis, Feb. 3.—President Wilson today told an audience of 15,000 which swayed with a tumult of cheering, that the United States should have the greatest navy in the world.

"I believe the navy of the United States should be unconquerable," he said, "the greatest in the world."

The President declared that submarine commanders abroad have instructions that for the most part conform with international law, but that the act of one commander might set the world afire, including America.

"Upon the ocean there are hundreds of cargoes of American goods," he said, "Cotton, grain and all the bountiful supplies America is sending out to the world—and any one of those cargoes, any one of those ships, may be the point of contact that will bring America into the war."

For the first time during the tour the President told how one set of belligerents was cut off from the world. He said this kept the United States from helping them as it would like. He made the statement in trying to show that the United States was really neutral.

"No man can lead America any whether that her people do not desire to be led. I believe it to be my duty to subordinate my individual feeling to the conscientious attempt to interpret and express in these international affairs, the genuine spirit of my fellow citizens," said the president.

"So far as America is concerned no man need go amongst us preaching peace. We are disciples of peace already and no man need preach that gospel to us."

"America has drawn no fine points no new issues in her international relations. She has merely asserted the rights of mankind when the life of mankind is threatened in a world aflame with war. She has rested upon what is already written plain on the documents of international law."

The crowd cheered. The president said that some day statesmen of the older countries would have to admit that it was America that kept burning the flame of international law upon its altar when every other altar in the world was swept by the winds of passion.

"I am ready to make every patient allowance," he continued, "for those whose tempers are upset by war."

"I am ready to make allowances for both sides."

"You know how one set of belligerents is shut off from the rest of the world. Therefore the United States is not able to express itself toward them as they would like. I believe the United States is really neutral."

"My fellow citizens, while we know our own purpose it does not (Continued on Page 10, Col. 4.)"

WILLIS INDORSES SMITH LAW FOR A ONE PER CENT TAX

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Columbus, O., Feb. 3.—Governor Willis endorsed the Smith one-per-cent tax law in an address before farmers attending the week's agricultural course at Ohio State University today.

"Better schools with courses in agriculture, and better roads will aid in the solution of the problem of greater farm production," said the governor. "But expense of these causes must be met without destruction of the Smith one per cent law. Numerous attempts have been made to break it. Personally, I have been called upon to veto five or six different acts of the general assembly which had for their purpose the destruction of the one per cent tax law. I believe that the farmers of Ohio and the citizens of the state generally believe in the retention of this tax limitation."

The governor praised scientific agricultural methods and crop raising contests for youths.

Mayor Davis Today Announced New Chief, With Authority Independent of Police Chief.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM) Cleveland, Feb. 3. — Promised shakeups in the detective department of the Cleveland police force by Mayor Harry L. Davis following the murder of Dolores Evans in a downtown hotel here, several weeks ago, came to a head today when Davis announced that Detective Gideon Rabshaw had been selected as chief of detectives, a new position which will be created by council ordinance. He will have the rank and pay of captain and will succeed Detective Captain Walker, who resigned, after the Evans murder following criticism of his department. Captain Frank Smith, who has been temporarily in charge of the detective bureau, will be given charge of a plain clothes vice squad of thirty men to raid rooming houses and gambling places. The new detective force will consist of thirty and Rabshaw will have authority over it independent of Police Chief W. S. Rowe, who heretofore has had control as the superior of the detective captain.

EVERYONE

(Continued from Page 1.) up the James river to Newport News, there was much activity among the 244 persons who had been held prisoners of the Germans and who have been granted the right to leave the ship. They were anxious to get ashore and get started on their way to England, where they were bound when the Appam was captured. Pending a further decision by the state department as to the status of more than 200 others aboard the Appam, these persons faced a longer confinement aboard the Appam. This decision was anxiously awaited by all the members of the German prize crew, because of the indications that the government would rule that the Appam was a prize of war belonging to Germany.

Customs Collector Hamilton arrived from Norfolk early in the day to assist in the arrangements for disembarking those who are at liberty.

Another Wonderful Recovery From Kidney Trouble

For nearly nine years I was a great sufferer from what my doctor said was kidney trouble and my blood was out of order; enduring all that time excruciating pain in my back and across my bowels. I was drawn down so that I could only walk with my hands on my knees. My doctor said he could do nothing for me. I tried many kinds of medicine but all to no avail. A friend told me about Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root and it did wonders for me. I prize it higher than any other medicine and I shall recommend it to my friends. I wish to add right here that after using Swamp-Root for two months I began to straighten up and am now sound and well, and feel like I might live a long time yet to tell what your medicine has done for me.

to land. He expressed the opinion that two or three days would elapse before all are ashore. Meanwhile the disposition of the other passengers likely will have been decided.

The Appam was brought to Newport News by request of Lieutenant Berg, the German commander, although government officials preferred to have her moved to Norfolk. Lieut. Berg's reasons for making the request were not disclosed.

With the landing of more passengers than those who came ashore last night further interesting details of the operations of the mysterious German raider were expected to be brought to light. Captain Harrison of the Appam, who was thought to have the best story to tell was detained aboard with all the members of his crew, the Germans having raised the point that the show of resistance they made when captured forfeited their right to be liberated. Twelve British subjects described by Lieut. Berg in a telegram to Ambassador Bernstorff as "enemy subjects," also are to be kept aboard the Appam.

Collector Hamilton assured these men in an address to the passengers yesterday that they would be given protection as long as they remained in American waters. Inasmuch as the Appam may be sent to sea if Germany chooses in event the United States government decides the vessel is a German prize, these men were not entirely reassured by this guarantee. It is the German contention that the Appam came into Hampton Roads under the terms of the Prussian-American treaty which guarantees her to her captors. The British view is that the vessel should be returned to her owners as a prize in accordance with article 21 of the Hague convention.

As Germans and British disagree on this point, they also differ in their versions of the identity of the raider. Prince Von Hatzfeldt, counselor of the German embassy at Washington, insists that she is the German cruiser Moewe while all of the British skippers aboard the Appam who have been interviewed to this time, declare she is a converted merchantman of about 5000 tons named Pompa, mounting six masked guns of near six-inch calibre and having two torpedo tubes.

The Englishmen believe she is a new boat fitted out recently as a commerce raider, and that she slipped out of the Kiel canal early in January.

The stories told of the capture of the Appam do not differ materially. On January 15, four days out from Dakar, West Africa, she sighted the German vessel. She was almost upon the Appam before Captain Harrison realized the impending danger. A warning shot across the Appam's bows caused the liner to stop. The raider's forecastle had been removed, exposing a formidable battery. In a short time a prize crew was in possession of the ship.

Few if any of the prisoners taken with the Appam and the six other vessels captured before her, witnessed the so-called battle between the raider and the Clan McTavish. According to some of the stories, the Appam prisoners were aboard the raider, having been removed temporarily to permit the prize crew to place bombs about the liner for defensive purposes. Until the Germans abandon their silence or some of the officers of the Clan McTavish are found, a detailed story of this encounter probably will not be obtained.

NO QUESTION

But That Appam is a Prize, Says Secretary Lansing.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM) Washington, Feb. 3.—Secretary Lansing stated today that there was no question as to the Appam's status as a prize but that the question of her disposition still involved further consideration of The Hague convention and the Prussian-American treaty. Lieutenant Berg's refusal to land British seamen who were gunpointers on British merchantmen, will be the subject of further consideration.

A decision of Attorney General Cushing, in the case of the Sitka, a Russian vessel that entered the harbor of San Francisco during the Crimean war with their prisoners aboard has been considered by the department in connection with the detention of the passengers Lieutenant Berg insists are prisoners of war. Cushing decided that there were no legal grounds for serving a process upon the commander of the Sitka demanding the release of the prisoners.

This decision was not regarded by the department as binding in the present instance, however, because of later exceptions of the principle that prisoners could not be held indefinitely in a neutral port.

The possibility that a still more formidable German sea raider than has been reported—the fast German cruiser Roon—is at large in the Atlantic and the report that the Roon in fact was nearby and directed the operations of the raider called the Moewe which sunk six ships and captured miles of the coast of Spain, promises to add another chapter to the yet untold story of the dashing German sailors.

The Roon is a fast, heavily armored cruiser of nearly ten thousand tons, with more than eighteen thousand horse-power, four hundred feet long and with both oil and coal boilers. She was built at Kiel in 1902, has four funnels and extra high wireless masts. She carries a super-armor belt, four torpedo tubes which discharge forward, astern and broadside and mounts 28 guns in all, four 8.2-inch; ten 5.9-inch, and fourteen 3.4-inch.

The British embassy denies it has information that the Roon is at large, and was reported off Canary Islands, but the story that she accompanied the Moewe is accredited to British aboard the Appam. Captain Harrison of the captured liner is accredited with the statement that some other ship than the Moewe destroyed the six ships in the eastern Atlantic, but he refused to give the name.

GUNPOINTERS

Aboard Appam Formerly of British Navy Still Are Held.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM) Washington, Feb. 3.—Sir Cecil Spring-Rice, the British ambassador, went again to the state department today to ask what disposition is to be made of the British subjects on the liner Appam, who the German captors contend are in the British military service because they were gunpointers on merchantmen sunk by the German sea raider which made the Appam a prize.

The British authorities here contend there is no warrant for holding the seamen, and it was understood they were to be released with the passengers and crews.

Lieut. Berg, the German commander, objected and they are being held pending further conferences of officials.

Formal announcement that the Appam is held to be a German prize is expected soon.

ENTHUSIASM

Over Naval Exploits Renewed in Berlin by Appam's Capture.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM) Berlin, Feb. 3.—(Via London).—News of the arrival of the Appam at Norfolk and of the daring raids of a German cruiser in the main lane of sea traffic between South Africa and Europe has aroused a new outburst of enthusiasm for the navy. The cruiser Moewe—in English, the Seagull—was enrolled immediately on the honor list with the Emden, Prinz Eitel Friedrich and Karlsruhe. Her feats are characterized as most daring, illustrative of the fact that the spirit which animated the Emden is still alive and that further pages of German history are being written.

There is no little mystery here regarding the identity of the Moewe. Admiralty officials evidently were not surprised at the news, but for obvious reasons decline to give any information about the cruiser or whence she set out for her raids.

A vessel named Moewe is given in the German navy list as a surveying ship. She formerly was engaged in survey work at the East African station. The raider may have been this craft, although it seems improbable that this little steamer of 650 tons, with a speed of only nine knots could accomplish the exploits in question.

It may have been that some larger steamer, assuming the name Moewe when converted into an auxiliary cruiser, slipped through the British lines. A precedent of this nature exists in the case of the German merchantman which was converted into the auxiliary cruiser Meteor, which sank the British patrol boat Ramsey and other ships in the North sea.

APPAM CAPTURED BY LIGHT CRAFT OF A NEW TYPE.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM) New York, Feb. 3.—Daniel Bacon, agent of the Elder-Dempster company, British owners of the Appam, says that vessel was captured by "a new type of light craft, heavily armed swift German cruiser, built on the lines of a merchantman and easily disguised."

"She was not an old warship but a brand new vessel," said Mr. Bacon. She was escorted by several other vessels.

"I understand that the sum of $150,000 in gold was taken from the specie room of the Appam when she was captured, but that the mails and cargo are intact."

PREPAREDNESS TO DEFEND PRINCIPLE OF DEMOCRACY URGED BY BERTON

Present Anti-Trust Laws Should be Amended Says Former Senator From Ohio.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM) Columbus, Feb. 3.—Former Senator Theodore Burton, candidate for the Republican presidential nomination, in a chamber of commerce luncheon address here today, predicted that after the European war, the United States will experience a great rise in interest rates, a decrease of exports to countries now at peace, and a prolonged era of peace. He urged that the United States promote "rational preparedness," however, and that federal anti-trust laws be amended to give greater freedom to small business interests which want to combine for carrying on trade with South America.

Mr. Burton expressed doubts that the cause of popular government will be benefitted by disastrous results of the war, and said for that reason the United States should be ready to defend the principle of democracy.

Conflicts between labor and capital will be lessened in the near future he declared.

Mr. Burton's subject was "After the War, What?" Before an audience of business men, representing varying political opinions, the former senator was applauded frequently. He did not refer to his presidential aspirations, nor specifically to any policies of the present national administration.

Jews and Armenians.

(Philadelphia Record.)

Terrible as are the sufferings of the Belgians and the Serbians, these people have the advantage of a national status in the world. They have Governments, even though these have been driven from their own soil. They appeal to the world not only in the name of humanity, but in the name of imperialism. There is a portion of the earth which is recognized, by neutrals, as their own. Their sufferings have been incidental to a war of unexampled proportions.

But the Jews have no nation, and the Armenians have none. The Jews are the citizens of all countries, loyal to the Governments under which they live, but the victims of widespread private, and in some countries of official, proscription and persecution from motives of racial and religious animosity. Millions of them live, or used to live, in the area ravaged by the greatest of wars, and they have suffered incalculably from racial and religious fanaticism in addition to the devastation of war.

The Armenians are a race and a religion. For centuries they have been the subjects of a people Turkish by race and Moslem by religion, from whom toleration may be bought for money, at times, and from whom at periods of passion and cupidity not even money will buy safety. They live in Asia, and while Europe has interested itself in the Greeks, Serbians, Bulgarians and Wallachians, victims of the Turk in Europe, the Armenians have received from Europe only just enough attention to inspire the Turk with a desire to get rid of them.

Abdul Hamid had them massacred 20 years ago. The reforming Young Turks massacred them seven years ago. The war with England and France, which have shown more interest in them than other European nations, has given the Turks an incentive to obliterate them, and the process of deportation into the desert of all the Armenians in six provinces has been attended by massacre, outrage, pillage, confiscation and every horror with which persons who know anything of the Turk's dealings with his Christian subjects when the blood lust was upon him are only too familiar. The facts in the present case have been reported to the world by the American Ambassador who is a Jew, and by the Papal delegate in Constantinople; and the German Government last August instructed its Ambassador to protest to the Sublime Porte against the "horrid barbarities" with which the policy of deportation was being carried out, even in the vicinity of the capital.

This city honored itself the other day by contributing about $50,000 for Jewish relief, munificently supplemented by our Jewish citizens. What will the people of Philadelphia give to feed and clothe the remnant of a race which has upheld the Cross under the sovereignty of the Crescent for 1500 years? These people, driven from their homes to places hundreds of miles distant, are perishing for food and clothes. They are in the condition that the people of Philadelphia would be if at a week's notice they were driven forth from their homes and stores and resources of every sort, and with what they could carry on their backs, driven, men—those who escaped Turkish lust, and the children that survived the journey, as far as Ohio, say. Some of them are Catholics, some are Protestants, much the greater part belong to their national church, the Gregorian. All are human beings.

What will the compassion of the City of Brotherly Love do for the survivors of the awful Exodus?

President's Tour.

(New York Times.)

The arguments upon which President Wilson grounds his appeal to the country in favor of military preparedness are unanswerable. New conditions affecting the fundamental rights of nations have been created by the European war. All countries must be prepared to meet these conditions. However noble the desire for international harmony and general disarmament may be, it must not now be permitted to interfere with this nation's duty to be ready to protect its rights. We must be able to defend not only the rights we possess in common with all other nations, but we must be prepared also to meet the responsibility placed upon us by the Monroe Doctrine. We cannot tell what the effect upon the United States of the greatest conflict in history may be. Thus arguing, the President will take pains to make clear the unwisdom of the pacifists who declare that preparation for national defense will inevitably develop the spirit of militarism among a hitherto unwarlike people. Nothing further from his mind than the cultivation of a policy of aggressiveness. Nothing is more foreign to the tastes and inclinations of the people of the United States. But the means of defense are essential at all times, in every country, if that country is successfully to endure in the face of foreign rivalry. We must rebuild our fences.

There will be no idea of partisanship in the President's speeches, we may be sure, and their appeal will be directed to citizens of all parties. The tour has no other political aim than to win public support for reasonable, moderate and well-considered measures to strengthen our military and naval forces.

Wilson's Best Appointment.

(New York American.)

The appointment of Louis D. Brandeis is the best appointment Mr. Wilson has made.

Mr. Brandeis will bring to the Supreme Court a temperament, a courage and a point of view that have been lacking since the death of Justice Brewer and Justice Harlan.

He will be a vigilant caretaker of the public interests. He will be as courageous and incorruptible as all the Justices are, and will be in full sympathy with modern progress and ## modern social aspirations and ideals;

which some of the Justices are not. The public knows Mr. Brandeis chiefly through his vigorous legal fights against powerful privileged interests and predatory corporations. Among these fights are the one Mr. Brandeis so forcefully made before the Interstate Commerce Commission against the increase of freight rates; the contest over the Alaska coal fields, in which he represented the popular side, and which he won for the people; and the famous case involving the constitutionality of the woman's 10-hour laws in Oregon and Illinois, which he also won.

With all due respect to the Supreme Court, we do not hesitate to say that it needs just such a man as Louis D. Brandeis to round out its membership and add fresh vigor and another viewpoint to its deliberations.

We congratulate the President and the American people upon this admirable and excellent appointment.

What We Wish to Know.

An aged Frenchman, who has worked out a system for forecasting the weather, claims we are to have a succession of twenty-six very severe winters, commencing with the present one. If he can tell us how long the European war is to last, however, it will be of greater interest.—Oshkosh Northwestern.

The Paying End.

A New Yorker has given $140,000 for a picture by Hans Memling called "The Archer," painted in the fifteenth century. Painting never has been a very high-paid profession, but art dealing often has proved a lucrative business.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Brandeis Appointment.

Of the high ability of Louis D. Brandeis, whom the President has nominated to be a Justice of the Supreme Court, there can be no question. There are few better lawyers in the United States in the lines he has chosen for his special field, and in personal integrity he has also been conspicuous. There has been nothing of the demagogue about the man, though he has been a hard fighter against corporation abuses and has styled himself as "district attorney for the people" in championing causes that have made him unpopular and disliked by certain influential circles.—Philadelphia Record.

President's Appeal to the People.

As a solemn warning to the people of the actuality of the dangers that beset their country and as an exposition of the vital need of preparedness to meet those perils the President's address in this city Saturday leaves little to be desired. It was conservative, sensible and eminently patriotic, and if the sole object of the speaker in his "swing around the circle" is to arouse the public to a due appreciation of the seriousness of the situation that exists, his remarks should answer the purpose admirably.—Pittsburgh Gazette-Times.

Popular Prejudices About Food.

A great deal of comment was caused by a recent order permitting the sale of the flesh of horses for meat in New York City, which apparently will also be allowed in many other places. Horse meat is used as food all over Europe. In time it will probably be so used in this country.

This use of equine flesh runs up against a certain popular repugnance that is not quite easy to account for. There always are many prejudices in the choice of food not wholly based on reason. Certain kinds of fish are always rejected by anglers, as worthless for food, on account of some local tradition against them. One generation after another of boys will throw these fish away, in accordance with custom. The trouble may simply be that the flesh is not quite as well flavored as other kinds. But as the years go by and fish become scarce, even the less savory varieties may be seen to have good value.

The feeling against horseflesh can hardly be based on any sanitary grounds. A horse seems just as cleanly an animal as a cow, perhaps more so. Probably the reason is that a horse is a working animal. He would naturally have tougher and more stringy muscles than a cow, which spends its life in idleness in pastures and barns.

Good cookery and skillful seasoning can do a great deal to improve the flavor of foods, also to render palatable the tougher portions of flesh. When one considers the amount of mastication needed to consume an ordinary beefsteak today, it is a question if horse flesh would be any worse.

In the earlier days of the country when all kinds of meat were abundant and cheap, the people could pick and choose and reject many nutritious forms of food. Times have changed now. Before many years old Dobbin's flesh, reduced to tenderness in the stew pot, may be a common article of diet.

Spelling Matches.

Many people were perhaps surprised the other day to read that a third annual inter-county spelling match had been held between school children in Madison and Onondaga counties, New York. It would be interesting to know if this is merely a unique instance, or if there is a tendency to revive the old-time spelling match, which has been regarded as obsolete.

The old fashioned spelling contest seemed to be part of an earlier social life, where people were thrown more on their own resources for diversion. Also they were not averse to some little mental exercise. There were contests in repeating literary and Biblical quotations and in the writing of verses. All kinds of information were worked into games.

Nowadays the world is more full of amusements. Most people like to sit in an opera chair and see other people perform while their minds lie idle and inert.

The displays of spelling ability that one would formerly see at any cross roads spelling match would seem almost unbelievable today. The English language is so purely illogical in its forms, that it requires no little mental effort to establish a correct orthography. One can not fix the correct form in one's mind by any analogies, for the exceptions are more numerous than the rules.

Probably good spelling ability depends somewhat on the same gifts that creates habits of mental accuracy. The quiet mousey looking person, who never attracts attention in the class room or social life, is apt to have the mind that works methodically and regularly in one groove. This kind of mind probably makes the best speller.

Good spelling is a valuable habit, and gives an impression of an accurate mind, and familiarity with the world of books and business. It would be well if the old time spelling contests could be revived, both as sporting contests after the old manner, and in tests between different schools, towns, and counties, as in the contest in New York state referred to above.

Society

The Women's Music Club is holding a meeting this afternoon in the Welch church in Elmwood avenue. The program will be in charge of Miss Sabina Hirschberg and Mrs. T. J. Evans.

Mrs. Lucinda Taylor formerly of Licking was happily surprised on Friday, January 28th, while visiting at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Grace Ackerman of Granville, by the arrival of a party of family friends. The occasion was her 82d birthday and as often before, her children and grandchildren came laden with gifts to honor her and the day.

A delicious dinner was provided, the tables being beautifully decorated with flowers brought by loving friends. A shower of gifts and cards and letters came from Minneapolis and other places. Mrs. Taylor who this winter is in rather delicate health, was cheered and made happy by the many tokens of love from her family and friends.

The members of the Progressive Club were entertained on Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Lawrence Krieg in Hudson avenue, and the following program was given without alteration from the calendar:

"Peace, commerce and honest friendship with all nations." Our Sister Republics of South America—Mrs. F. L. Johnson. Opera South of Panama—Mrs. Grove Montgomery.

From the Editor's Study—Mrs. John Mitchell.

Mrs. Fred Black will entertain at her home in Hudson avenue on Friday afternoon with a bridge luncheon honoring her sister, Mrs. Philip Bana of Westbrook, Me.

In Milady's Boudoir

By Gwen Sears

Did you ever observe yourself in a glass as you sit reading an absorbing story? Of course not, because your mind was on the story and not on yourself. But if you were to look up suddenly you would probably find that your face was a network of wrinkles and frowns.

Do not allow your reading of even the most exciting story to effect the serenity of your features. If the story is a sad one, try to remember that it is only a story after all, and that all the nervous energy you are wasting on it will never make the heroine happier, so why not enjoy it and smile?

Hold the book erect and lay the head back in a comfortable position, keeping the line of vision on the page you are reading. Never bend over a book with your head in your hand. It is a ruinous position for the eyesight, the lungs and the chin. If you would possess a rippling double chin, this is the quickest way to attain it.

It is very injurious to read on trains and street cars. The constant jarrings and changes of light irritate the eyes and, incidentally, uses up a great deal of nerve force. Reading should be confined to the peace and quietude of the home. Relax and smile when you read and it will improve you physically as well as mentally.

HELPING THE BLIND.

Helen Keller, that indefatigable champion of those who have to spend their lives in darkness, tells us that "The heaviest burden on the blind is not blindness, but idleness, and they can be relieved of this greater burden. The state can teach the blind to work, but their fellow-citizens must furnish the market for their products." It is in an effort to lighten this burden and to create a larger market for the excellent and useful household articles made by a large number of worthy blind women who are employed in their own homes by the State Commission for the blind that Mrs. J. R. Fitzgibbon, 100 North Fifth street has granted permission for the use of her home tomorrow afternoon and evening.

Your Boys and Girls

It is a good idea to teach your children that the toothpick should no more be employed in public than the toothbrush. Do not allow them to use it as they parade through public halls, sit in drawing rooms or even at the table. If you have neglected this very important item in their education, instruct them from now on to attend to such matters in private and without compulsory witnesses.

If they say that well dressed men and women commit this offence against decency and good taste, assure them that they were unfortunate in having no well bred parents to teach them better manners, and that they are not to be emulated, but pitied.

Granville

[Special to The Advocate] Granville, O., February 3.—One of the most enjoyable of the programs presented by the Women's Music Club was that of Wednesday afternoon, February 2, when only Italian composers were represented. This was a well balanced program with a pleasing variety that kept the hearers interested from the first number to the close.

The president, Mrs. W. P. Ullman, presided at the business session with her accustomed grace, and the result of the election of officers resulted as follows: President, Mrs. W. P. Ullman (re-elected); vice president, Mrs. Fred Seymour; secretary, Miss Blanche La Ferre; treasurer, Miss Eva Wright; chairman of program committee, Mrs. J. S. Jones.

At 3 o'clock the program was placed in the hands of the leader, who announced the following delightful and exquisitely interpreted numbers:

Rossini—duet, "Overture to William Tell".....
Miss Dora Lisle, Mrs. C. D. Coons,
Mrs. M. E. Stuckney, Mrs. C. J. Loveless.

Mascagni..... "Thy Star"
Rotoli—vocal solo..... "Dying Flower"
Mrs. John Ogilvie, accompanied by Mrs. Coons.

Scarlatti—Tausage piano solo..... "Pastorale"
Longo..... "Capriccio"
Mrs. Susan Bawden.

Frontini—piano solo..... "Cantabile"
Martucci..... "Scherzo"
Miss Faye Hulshizer.

Gretsch—chorus..... "Sketches from Italy"
Mrs. Marion Rose Johnson, Mrs. R. C. Morrow, Mrs. W. P. Ullman, Mrs. John Ogilvie, Mrs. C. J. Loveless, Mrs. M. E. Stuckney.

The duets which were to have been sung by Mrs. Johnson and Miss Grace Brooks were omitted owing to Miss Brooks' unexpected departure for her home.

The chorus under the leadership of Mrs. Ullman was one of the finest ever given and merited the applause accorded it. All the performers, pianists, vocalist and accompanist were at their best, and found the audience sympathetic and responsive.

The "Question Box" which is an important feature of each meeting was omitted on account of the illness of Mrs. C. B. White. "Current Events" given by Mrs. C. W. Chamberlain were important and interesting. Hostesses of the afternoon were Mrs. W. P. Ullman and Miss Blanche La Ferre, assisted by Mrs. C. W. Henderson, Miss Hulshizer and Miss Wright.

Members of the club were Mrs. F. S. Chambers, Mrs. Fish, Mrs. Cleveland of Cleveland, and Miss Elizabeth Morris.

The members of Sigma Chi fraternity were hosts at an informal but delightful party on Saturday evening at their house in East Broadway.

The ladies of the party were: Miss Dittmars, chaperone, Miss Alma Brumback, Miss Genevieve Cathcart, Miss Louise Mack, Miss Mary Anderson, Miss Alice Tift, Miss Blanche Pugham, Miss Selma Russell, Miss Helen Olney, Miss Mary McDonald, and Miss Marjorie Hamilton.

WHAT CAUSES COLDS?

This question is asked every day. A cold is really a fever, not always caused by the weather but often due to disordered blood or lack of important food-elements. In changing seasons fat-foods are essential because they distribute heat by enriching the blood and so render the system better able to withstand the varying elements. This is the important reason why Scott's Emulsion should always be taken for colds, and it does more—builds strength to prevent sickness.

Scott's Emulsion contains Nature's rare strength-building fats, so skillfully blended that the blood profits from every drop. It is free from harmful drugs or alcohol. Sold at drug stores—always get the genuine.

Be Careful in Using Soap on Your Hair

Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali, which is very injurious, as it dries the scalp and makes the hair brittle.

The best thing to use is just plain mulified coconut oil, for it is pure and entirely greaseless. It's very cheap, and beats the most expensive soaps or anything else all to pieces. You can get this at any drug store, and a few ounces will last the whole family for months.

Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in, about a teaspoonful is all that is required. It makes an abundance of rich creamy lather, cleanses thoroughly, and rinses out easily. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and is soft, fresh looking, bright, fluffy, wavy, and easy to handle. Besides, it loosens and takes out every particle of dust, dirt and dandruff.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Nichols spent Wednesday night with Mr. and Mrs. Earl Burch.

Had Suffered For Over Eight Years

Doctors Advised an Operation but Simple Remedy Made It Unnecessary.

For over eight years Mr. U. S. G. Hemry, 806 East 6th St., Oklahoma City, had suffered with stomach and liver trouble until finally he could no longer stand the pain. He says:

"The doctors told me nothing but an operation would give me relief. I decided to first try Fruitola and Traxo, which relieved me of a quantity of gall stones and I have no further pain or trouble from my old complaint. I would not take $500.00 for what your remedies have done for me."

Fruitola, as the name implies, is a pure fruit oil, combined with certain harmless salts, and acts as a lubricant on the intestinal parts, softening the congested masses, disintegrating the hardened particles that cause so much suffering and expelling the accumulation to the patient's great relief. Traxo acts on the liver and kidneys, stimulates the flow of gastric juices to aid digestion and removes bile from the general circulation. It is a splendid tonic and serves to build up and restore the weakened run-down system.

Fruitola and Traxo are prepared in the Pious laboratories at Monticello, Ill., and arrangements have been made to supply them through representative druggists. In Newark they can be obtained at Evans' Drug Store, Warden Hotel Block.

Makes Stubborn Coughs Vanish in a Hurry

Surprisingly Good Cough Syrup Easily and Cheaply Made at Home

If some one in your family has an obstinate cough or a bad throat or chest cold that has been hanging on and refuses to yield to treatment, get from any drug store 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex and make it into a pint of cough syrup, and watch that cough vanish in a hurry.

Four of the 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex (50 cents worth) into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup. The total cost is about 34 cents, and gives you a full pint—a family supply—of a most effective remedy, at a saving of $2. A day's use will usually overcome a hard cough. Easily prepared in 5 minutes—full directions with Pinex. Keeps perfectly and has a pleasant taste. Children like it.

It's really remarkable how promptly and easily it loosens the dry, hoarse or tight cough and the inflamed membranes in a painful cough. It also stops the formation of phlegm in the throat and bronchial tubes, thus ending the persistent loose cough. A splendid remedy for bronchitis, winter coughs, bronchial asthma and whooping cough.

Pinex is a special and highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, rich in guaiaic, which is so healing to the membranes.

Avoid disappointment by asking your druggist for "2 1/2 ounces of Pinex," and do not accept anything else. A guarantee of absolute satisfaction with the preparation or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

VEGETABLE CALOMEL

Vegetable calomel, extract of the root of the old-fashioned may-apple plant, does not salivate. As a liver stimulant, it's great. It's a perfect substitute for ordinary calomel (mercury); in fact, it's better, because its action is gentle instead of severe and irritating—and it leaves no mean, disagreeable after-effects. Physicians recognize this and prescribe may-apple root (podoophyllin, they call it) daily.

Combined with four other standard, all-vegetable remedies, may-apple root may now be had at most any druggist's in convenient sugar-coated tablet form by asking for Santalaxatives. If you forget the name, ask for the box that has the picture of the soldier on it.

These tablets are small, easy to take and are really wonderful little performers. They quickly clean out the poisons that are causing you headache, constipation, sour stomach, biliousness, dizzy spells, bad breath and coated tongue.

They are mild. They never gripe. And they are a bowel tonic as well as a cleanser and liver regulator. A 10c box should last one several weeks. A Physician's trial package (4 doses) will be mailed you free if you write mentioning this advertisement. The Santalax Remedies Co., 802 Madison Ave., Covington, Ky.

"BATTLE CRY OF PEACE" AT AUDITORIUM

The "Battle Cry of Peace" was witnessed by two good audiences at the Auditorium yesterday and will be repeated this afternoon and tonight. The lobby of the theatre has been patriotically decorated for the occasion as well as the boxes in the theatre and flags and bunting are seen in profusion.

At the matinee yesterday the members of Co. B, Old Guard, in full uniform, were the guests of Manager Harry English and greatly enjoyed the performance. An orchestra of twelve pieces contributed largely to the entertainment.

The picture runs for two hours and a half and the story is based upon the book, "Defenseless America," by Hudson Maxim, the inventive genius, who with Thomas A. Edison and others, has promised his every support to the nation in this great crisis.

J. Stuart Blackton is the author of the play which made an impression on every thinking person in yesterday's audience. Modern devices of war were shown and the inadequacy of the defense of this country was revealed. Scenes are shown which compare the armament of this country with others, such as England, France, Russia, etc., and it is shown how poorly we compare with the other powers.

The possibilities of a hostile army invading New York and the amount of damage that could be wrought is vividly pictured and, though it is merely conjecture, the tremendous possibility of such an invasion is made apparent.

Peace contenders are severely flayed and a bit of humor is shown at a peace meeting before the invasion which eventually ends in a melee to which the police are summoned to restore peace.

The invading force is a purely imaginary people with nondescript uniforms. The leader and head of this force is named Emanon, which, when spelled backwards, is "no name."

There is a thrilling scene where a mother and two daughters are captured by the invaders. Though somewhat gruesome, the scene is well acted and the heroic sacrifice made by the mother impresses with realistic force the suffering of the women in times of war.

With Charles Richman in the lead, portraying the young man whose first, last and only thought was for preparedness for war, and a supporting cast that includes such well-known film favorites as Norma Talmage, Mary Maurice and others, the play wins instant favor; the orchestra contributes largely to the entertainment, while the bombardment of that famous Wall street, along with the splendidly realistic thunder caused by the big machine guns, sent little thrills and shudders up and down one's spine.

An Inside Bath Makes You Look and Feel Fresh

Says a glass of hot water with phosphate before breakfast keeps illness away.

This excellent, common-sense health measure being adopted by millions.

Physicians the world over recommend the inside bath, claiming this is of vastly more importance than outside cleanliness, because the skin pores do not absorb impurities into the blood, causing ill health, while the pores in the ten yards of bowels do.

Men and women are urged to drink each morning, before breakfast a glass of hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it, as a harmless means of helping to wash from the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels the previous day's indigestible material, poisons, sour bile and toxins; thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach.

Just as soap and hot water cleanse and freshen the skin, so hot water and limestone phosphate act on the eliminative organs.

Those who wake up with bad breath, coated tongue, nasty taste or have a dull, aching head, sallow complexion, acid stomach; others who are subject to bilious attacks or constipation, should obtain a quarter pound of limestone phosphate at the drug store. This will cost very little but is sufficient to demonstrate the value of inside bathing. Those who continue it each morning are assured of pronounced results, both in regard to health and appearance.

TREATIES

WITH NICARAGUA AND COLOMBIA TO BE PRESSED FOR HEARING.

Senator Stone Expects to Have Them Ratified at the Earliest Moment Possible.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM) Washington, Feb. 3.—Chairman Stone of the senate foreign relations committee said today he intends to bring up the Colombian and Nicaraguan treaties reported favorably from the committee for action at the earliest possible moment.

The Colombian treaty as amended in committee would reduce the amount of money to be paid Colombia from $25,000,000 to $15,000,000 and make the expression of regret for partition of Panama mutual to both the United States and Colombia.

The Nicaraguan treaty provides for the payment of $3,000,000 to Nicaragua for an inter-ocean canal route and naval base in the bay of Fonseca.

The treaties will be pressed for ratification with the full backing of the administration, although vigorous opposition is looked for from the republicans.

Their opposition to the Colombian act is based on the payment of as much as $15,000,000 and to any expression of regret.

The amendment was adopted by the senate late yesterday 41 to 41, vice President Marshall casting the deciding vote. As finally perfected however, the amendment provides for extension of time for granting independence, if the president should deem it advisable, until congress shall have opportunity further to consider the subject.

President Wilson is not opposed to the amendment it is said.

ANOTHER RIVER STEAMER BURNS; IS TOTAL LOSS

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM) Huntington, W. Va., Feb. 3.—The steamer Ohio, formerly the Avalon, was burned to the water's edge, in the Little Kanawha river at Parkersburg, late last night. The Ohio was waiting to go on the docks for repairs.

The fire started in the after cabin and soon enveloped the whole superstructure of the boat. A night watchman is said to have been the only person on the boat.

Owing to the position of the boat firemen, operating from the river bank, had difficulty in fighting the fire.

The steamer was valued at $35,000. She was owned by B. S. Pope of Parkersburg, W. Va. M. F. Noll of Marietta, O., and others. The origin of the fire is not known.

ENTIRE COUNTRY IS CELEBRATING Y. W. C. A. JUBILEE

1880—1916.

"Ye shall hallow the fiftieth year and proclaim liberty throughout the land unto all the inhabitants thereof."—Leviticus 25:10.

The nation-wide members' jubilee is the grand climax of the half century's efforts in the Y. W. C. A. No city in the country is quite so vitally concerned in the jubilee celebration as is Boston, the birthplace of the movement in America. The Boston Association of today has taken hold of the plans for a jubilee celebration of its fiftieth year, with an enthusiasm that is worthy of its fifty-year history.

The tentative calendar upon which the National Jubilee committee based its recommendations for city, town and country association shows that the future as well as the past and present has been taken into consideration. The membership rallies on the First day of February will emphasize the membership of the present; the Pioneer Days will recall the past, while the Days of Giving and Days of Thanksgiving and conservation will direct us to the power by which the coming demands are to be met.

The National Jubilee committee has arranged for publicity that will extend over the whole country. The American Press Association, Associated Press, United Press, and Church News Association have been supplied with general news articles for use in their syndicate service. Special feature articles will appear in the New York newspaper syndicate.

Feature articles, concerning the noble gifted women and their special lines of work in the National Board, have been sent to the local association for publication. In every city or town where there is a Y. W. C. A. the press will be asked to publish these articles during the month of February.

Pioneer Days notice has been sent to 46 church papers of all denominations. Most of these papers have promised editorials. Most magazines will contribute toward the widespread publicity. Fifteen sorority magazines will publish jubilee articles. The General Federation of Women's clubs, Journal and Magazine, will each publish an article on the jubilee in February.

In addition to this National Jubilee, the committee has prepared five articles based on the five decades of the Association work in this country, for use by all local papers where the Y. W. C. A. exists.

WILL POPE SEND DELEGATES TO A PEACE PARLEY?

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)

Rome, Feb. 3.—Via Paris.—The question as to whether the Pope will be authorized to send delegates to the peace conference, which is expected to be held at the conclusion of the war, is raised again by Count Soderini, a member of the Italian chamber of deputies and the man to whom Pope Leo XIII entrusted the documents from which the history of his pontificate was to be written. Count Soderini says that Pope Benedict XV since he has been elevated to the papacy has always aimed at the conclusion of a just and lasting peace.

LICKING

Several of our people have been victims of "Grip" the past week. Among them being Miss Mabel Harter, Mrs. Clarence Messick, Ellis Kees, Fay White, Walter and Effie Messick. All are getting better.

The Ladies Circle meets with Mrs. Howard Ford the second Thursday in this month.

The Misses Viva Orr and Barbara Reese spent Saturday afternoon at the Charles Ruffner home.

Next Saturday in the regular business meeting of the church. This is a very important meeting. It is hoped every one will feel interested.

Mr. Charles Koehendorfer has been sick the past week with muscular rheumatism. He is under the care of Dr. Leatherman of Outville.

Our mail man, Mr. James Sloumb is taking his vacation now for the next fifteen days. He will spend part of it with his Uncle Lynn and family, of Uhricksville, Ohio. His father will have charge of the route for the time being.

Your Money back if you want it is the way in which T. J. Evans, the popular druggist is selling Mi-o-na, the great dyspepsia remedy.

This is an unusual plan, but Mi-o-na has so much merit and is so almost invariably successful in relieving all forms of indigestion that he runs but little risk in selling under a guarantee of this kind.

Do not be miserable or make your friends miserable with your dyspepsia. Mi-o-na will help you. If it doesn't, tell T. J. Evans that you want your money back and he will cheerfully refund it.

A change for the better will be seen from the first few doses of Mi-o-na and its continued use will soon start you on the road to perfect digestion and enjoyment of food.

Mi-o-na has been so uniformly successful that every box is sold under a positive guarantee to refund the money if it does not relieve. What fairer proposition could be made?

T. J. Evans gives his personal guarantee of "money back if you want it" with every box of Mi-o-na that he sells. A guarantee like this speaks volumes for the merit of the remedy.

DANDRUFF GOES! HAIR GETS THICK, WAVY, BEAUTIFUL

SAVE YOUR HAIR! DOUBLE ITS BEAUTY IN A FEW MOMENTS. TRY THIS!

HAIR STOPS COMING OUT AND EVERY PARTICLE OF DANDRUFF DISAPPEARS.

Try as you will, after an application of Danderine, you can not find a single trace of dandruff or falling hair and your scalp will not itch, but what will please you most, will be after a few weeks' use, when you see new hair fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair—growing all over the scalp.

A little Danderine immediately doubles the beauty of your hair. No difference how dull, faded, brittle and scraggy, just moisten a cloth with Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. The effect is immediate and amazing—your hair will be light, fluffy and wavy, and have an appearance of abundance; an incomparable lustre, softness and luxuriance, the beauty and shimmer of fine hair.

Get a 25-cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter, and prove that your hair is as pretty and soft as any—that it has been neglected or injured by careless treatment—that's all.

Danderine is to the hair what fresh showers or rain and sunshine are to vegetation. It goes right to the roots, invigorates and strengthens them. Its exhilarating, stimulating and life-producing properties cause the hair to grow long, strong and beautiful.

AGAIN DENIED THAT EMPEROR HAS A CANCER

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM) Berlin, via Wireless to Sayville, N. Y., Feb. 2.—In again denying the report published in various quarters, that the German emperor had been treated by an American physician for a cancerous condition of the larynx, the Overseas News Agency characterizes the case as a "malicious attempt to influence foreign public opinion falsely," and adds:

"The emperor is traveling from one line of battle to another as only a healthy man can do."

When a man asks for your honest opinion of him, don't give it unless you are prepared to lose his friendship.

FRANKLIN

The Lutheran Cemetery Association will hold its annual meeting Tuesday, Feb. 3 at 1 o'clock p. m. at the Lutheran church. This society was organized two years ago, having as its object the better care and preservation of the Lutheran cemetery. Previous to this time this cemetery had been badly neglected, and had grown up in weeds and ivy and was in generally bad condition. Upon the organization of this society pledge cards were sent to all who were interested, asking them to pledge a yearly contribution to a fund to be used in beautifying and caring for the cemetery. A large number responded and the money has been profitably expended towards the object in view, but still much remains to be done. All who contribute to this association are members and have a voice and vote in the meetings.

The officers are a president, secretary-treasurer and three trustees. The trustees have full charge of all work done. At the meeting February 3, the election of officers and some other very important business will come before the association.

Each member is urged to make an effort to be present at this meeting. All those who have neglected to send in their annual dues will confer a favor on the treasurer by remitting on or before the date of the meeting.

Franklin Grange will meet February 3. The first and second degrees will be conferred on a class by the newly organized degree team. The lecturer expected to have a very interesting program.

On account of the inclement weather no services were held at St. John's church, Sunday.

Mr. J. L. Motherspaw, after several weeks' siege with the grip, is able to be out again.

Mr. Dodson, rural mail carrier on Route 4, has been sick the past week and Miss Hazel Taylor substitute carrier, has been filling his place.

A large number of our residents are suffering from colds and grip. The school attendance has been very irregular on this account.

Mr. David Benner, the oldest resident in Franklin, has been quite poorly for the past week.

GIRLS-DO YOU KNOW WHY YOUR HAIR IS UGLY?

Many women do not realize the necessity of keeping the hair and scalp absolutely clean in order to look their best. And yet, with only a few minutes of tonic massage, the hair may be brought to a beautiful, thick, lustrous luxuriance, and that at very little cost.

Just try these few simple directions today: Into the palm of the hand pour a little Parisian Sage, a rigidly guaranteed, inexpensive and most beneficial preparation to be had at any drug store; thoroughly wet the hair near the scalp with it and then rub vigorously until a soft tingling sensation comes stealing over the head. Do this regularly for a few days and you will surely be surprised and delighted with the results.

The genuine Parisian Sage is obtainable from W. A. Eрман, who always sells it with an absolute guarantee of perfect satisfaction to the user or the money paid will be returned.

SULTAN'S HEIR ASSASSINATED BY HIS SUITE

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM) Paris, Feb. 3.—A m. s.—Yussuf Izzedin, whatever may be said, was assassinated by his suite, by order of the committee Union and Progress," said Cherif Pasha, who, with Prince Sabah Edin, directs the principal movement of the Turkish opposition according to the Constantinople correspondent of the Matin.

Later Yussuf had revolted against the dictatorship of the Young Turks. He became dangerous and he has been removed. His successor and cousin, Vahid Edin, is even more hostile to the Young Turks than was Yussuf. I should not like to make prediction regarding the length of his life," said Cherif Pasha in conclusion.

A dispatch from Constantinople to Reuter's Telegram company, dated February 2, announced the report that Yussuf Izzedin, heir apparent to the Turkish throne, had committed suicide.

Vahid Edin, who is mentioned as the new heir apparent, was born in Constantinople, January 12, 1861, and is the brother of the present Sultan.

Opinion on Motion.

In the case of Albert Clapham vs. Joseph Brownfield, et al., a motion for a new trial, Judge Harry Jewell of Delaware today filed his opinion on same with County Clerk Bert O. Horton. Judge Jewell states that a similar case embodying the same question in this case has been taken to the Court of Appeals from the Licking county court, the point at issue being that county commissioners cannot be held because of work being done by the state. Judge Jewell states that it would save considerable expense, perhaps, to await a decision from that court which will convene in this city in March. If this suggestion is not satisfactory to the attorneys in the case, then Judge Jewell states the motion is overruled.

Executor Appointed.

The will of James F. Canedy has been admitted to probate and Ora E. Canedy of this city has been appointed executor under the will. Bond, $3,000.

Case, stating that the defendant sold him a stallion on May 23, 1915, for $325, for use as a stock horse and which he warranted to be sound and not over ten years of age; that on these representations plaintiff purchased the stallion and afterwards learned that the defendant had misrepresented and that the horse was unsound and afflicted with chronic indigestion and that the horse was of little value.

CROWDS

follow that other nations understand. "Men press forward with a sort of blind recklessness."

"The peace of the world, including America rests with the remainder of the world and not with America."

"Either we shall sit still and wait for the necessity for immediate national defense to come and then call for volunteers who would be for the first few months impotent as against a trained and experienced enemy; or we shall adopt the ancient American principle that the men of the country shall be ready to take care of their own government."

The crowd roared its approval. President Wilson declared here today that he believed there would never be another war like the present and that the war will hasten the time of general peace.

He spoke at a breakfast of the St. Louis businessmen's league before going to the Coliseum for his main address.

Governor Major of Missouri, sat next to the President. The room was decorated with American flags. Enthusiastic applause greeted the President as he rose to speak.

"It's just as well to shed speeches as you go," he said. "There are many things I would like to speak, but now I am talking of national defense. Not only is it necessary to mobilize the military forces of the nation, but also the economic forces of the nation."

"I am not looking forward to war, but to times of peace. Peoples do not hate each other, and therefore they will do business together."

The President spoke of the necessity of presenting the facts of business as they really are. He said the facts and the truth are mightier than any other force.

"America has been shy at going out in competition," he said. "I am ready to match the business of America against that of the rest of the world."

He explained that the United States must keep out of the war if possible in order to help in the healing processes.

The President declared that such a war can never come again; that it will never come again; and that the war will put forward the time of universal peace better than anything else could.

When he spoke of his conviction that a tariff board should be created the applause was enthusiastic. He then spoke of national defense.

FROM BOTH COASTS
FLAME MAY CREEP IN IF UNPREPARED.

Kansas City, Feb. 2.—President Wilson yesterday asserted the right of Americans to travel abroad, and their right to send food, cotton and manufactured products to peaceful populations "in open neutral markets" and "wherever the conditions of war make it possible to do so under the ordinary rules of international law."

"It may be necessary to use the force of the United States to vindicate the rights of American citizens to enjoy the protection of international law," he declared emphatically in a speech at Topeka. He urged the support of the people of Kansas and Missouri in preparing that force for use, if necessary.

In Kansas City in the evening, the President demanded that steps be begun during the present month to back him up in defending American lives and commerce abroad. His demand met with shouts and applause from an audience of 16,000, persons who waved American flags, leaped to their seats and cheered.

When the President ceased speaking he leaned forward and asked the great throng to join him in singing "America." The band played softly, the audience stood and the words of America's national anthem came in a glorious burst of song.

The big crowd was for the President from the start. It waited patiently an hour to see him and cheered itself hoarse in a three-minute demonstration when he appeared. Sixteen thousand heard him, 20,000 were turned away and 10,000 more tried to see him as he left his hotel for the hall.

"Why, some men in Washington are questioning if we could get the 500,000 men for which the government is asking," he said at one point of his address.

"Would they volunteer?" A man in the far end of the hall shouted his answer over the heads of the crowd: "Yes," he cried.

A dozen men—a score—50—echoed the word and the hall was in a turmoil. President Wilson smiled and held out his hand.

"Why, I believe," he said as the tumult died, "you could raise the 500,000 men in almost any state. I believe you could get 5,000 men right here in this audience."

"I have been thrilled by the experience of these last few days," the President said, "and I will go home to Washington and smile at the gentlemen who say the United States is not awake."

"Those gallant men who sit on the hill in Washington and make our laws are going to deliver the goods," the crowd cheered. "Don't misunderstand me, they are going to deliver the goods because you want the goods delivered."

The President said the time had come for him to ask his fellow citizens to "get up on your hind legs and talk and tell the people who represent you what the nation desires and demands. The thing that everybody in a democracy is listening for is the tramp, tramp, tramp of the facts."

"I have come to ask you what is back of me in this task of preserving at once peace and your honor," the president said. "The judge on the bench has the law back of him, with its bailiffs, sheriffs, National Guardsmen and the United States army, but if you ignore in some foreign capital what the president urges as the rights of the people, the government of the United States, what is the back of it?"

"It is necessary that I should come and ask this question, because I don't know how long the mere word and insistence of your government will prevail to maintain your honor and the dignity and power of the nation."

"There may come a time—I pray God it may never come, but it may in spite of everything we can do—upon us when I shall have to ask, I have said my say; who stands back of it?" Where is that force by which the right and majesty of the United States are to be vindicated and asserted?

The president declared the need was immediate and that action should be begun within the present month.

"I assure you there is not a day to be lost," he said, "not because there is any special crisis, but because I do not know 24 hours ahead what will happen.

"The future does not depend on us, but upon commanders of ships and of submarines and upon blockades, and upon many other men, big and little."

"I have read editorials, he said, 'sneezing at the number of notes sent abroad by the government and asking why doesn't the government act; and in these same papers I have seen editorials against the preparation to do anything whatever effective, if these notes are to be regarded. Is that the temper of the United States. It may be the temper of the people of the United States.'"

A wave of applause swept over the gathering. A voice in the gallery cried "No" and the crowd yelled again.

The president presented a warning that most of the munition factories of the United States were on the Atlantic seaboard and that, therefore, the nation must be ready to repel the first attack in order to avoid disaster. The present army, the president said, was so small that he did not even have enough soldiers to station along the Mexican border to prevent bandits from crossing the line.

"I have even felt," he said, "like asking Congress to encourage the recruiting of Texas rangers. We are witnessing a catyism and God only knows what the issue shall be," was the way he prefaced his conclusion in which he asked his audience to keep cool, but to uphold the judgment of the government in its demands of a larger, more effective means of national defense."

"There is nothing you would be quicker to blame than for neglecting to safeguard the rights of Americans, no matter where they might be in the world," said the president at Topeka. "There are perfectly clearly marked rights guaranteed by international law which every American is entitled to enjoy and America is not going to abide the habitual or continued neglect of these rights."

"We have a right to send food to peaceful populations wherever conditions make it possible to do so under the ordinary rules of war. We have a right to supply them with our cotton to clothe them. We have a right to supply them with our manufactured products."

The Monroe doctrine was spoken of as a handsome guarantee by the United States of the rights of national and popular sovereignty on this side of the water in both continents of the Western Hemisphere. Nothing sustains the honor of the United States in respect to this long cherished policy, the president said, but the moral and physical force of the United States. He spoke of the spirit shown by the nation in freeing Cuba and added that "the American people feel the same way about the Philippines, though the rest of the world does not yet believe it."

The president later spoke to an overflow meeting in the Topeka High School. He mentioned the camps held last summer in connection with military posts and said more such camps should be established and that the men should volunteer to go to them in sufficient numbers, so that if war ever comes to the United States there would be a nucleus for the army.
